ADMIRAL RAMSAY NAMED.

Appointed Third Member of the Schley Court of Enquiry.

Informed of His Selection by Tele. graph-Said to be Satisfactory to Both Sides-Au Erroneous Report That Sampson Had Been Summoned

Frank W. Hackett, Acting Secretary of Rear Admiral Francis M. Ramsay, a retired officer of the navy, has been ap-pointed as the third member of the Schley Court of Enquiry, in place of Rear Ad-miral Henry L. Howison, retired, who was on Thursday excused from service his coileagues, Admiral Dewey and Rear Admiral Benham, after being chailenged for cause by Rear Admirai Schiey Admiral Ramsay's selection is satisfactory to Admiral Schley.

His name was in the list of officers of flag rank submitted to Acting Secretary Hackett by Admiral Schiey's counsel when their unofficial objection to Admira-Howison was presented to the Navy Department. Admiral Ramsay is at Blue Ridge Summit, Franklin County, Pa. His selection is credited to Secretary Long. Nothing in regard to his appointment beyond the mere announcement that it had been made could be obtained from Acting Secretary Hackett, who had said carrier In the day that he would not discuss the matter on account of the critical condition of President McKinley.

It was said elsewhere in the department that Admiral Ramsay had not been con suited on the subject, and that he had not been heard from. Notification was sent to him by telegraph.

The selection of Admiral Ramsay will probably give satisfaction. All of Admiral Schley's counsel were out of town yesterday, but friends of Admiral Schley said that he was satisfied with the appointment. Admiral Ramsay was retired in April, 1997. He is sixty-six years old, but doesn't look it. He walks with a quick, springy step, and although by no means robust looking, is apparently full

Admiral Ramsay was the immediate predecessor of Rear Admiral Crowninshield as Chief of the Bureau of Navigation. He held the office until he reached the retiring age. He was regarded as one of the strictest disciplinarians in the navy, but privately he is of a kindly and gentle disposition and manner. When he became Superintendent of the Naval Aca-demy, in the eighties, hazing, or "running," as they call it there, was at its By vigorous measures Admiral Ramsay cradicated the evil and it has never regained a firm foothold among the naval cadets. Admiral Ramsay resides in this city, where he was born. His wife is a sister of Gen. Martin Mac-Mahon, of New York. Like Mrs. Ramsay, the admirsi is a devout Catholic. He was appointed to the Naval Academy from Pennsylvania in 1850, and served in

The Schley Court will reassemble at the Washington Navy Yard Monday morning at 11 o'clock. An adjournment for an indefinite period in event of the President's death is, of course, to be expected. Admiral Dewey telephoned yes-terday from his country place to Admiral Schley and the Navy Department that the Court would assemble at the time given. He did this on being informed by the Navy Department at the time given.

Apparently reliable information that Admiral Sampson has been summoned as a witness before the Court proved erreneous. The mistake arose through the supposition that all the witnesses on the judge advocate's list had been summoned. Admiral Sampson's name heads the list.

As a matter of fact, only a small number of these witnesses have been notified to appear. The others will be called later. Whether Admiral Sampson will be called has not been determined. His testimony is not regarded as essential to the case by the judge advocate, but Admiral Schley's counsel have said that they will Admiral Ramsay took a conspicuous part in the civil war. He was promoted to be licutenant in 1858, and at the outbreak of the war was stationed at the Washington Nayy Yard in this city. During the first two years of the war he was attached to the Saratoga, of the Arrican Squadron. On July 16, 1862, he commissioned licutenant commander. He commanded the ironciad Choctaw, of the Mississippi Squadron, and took part in the engagements of Haine's Binff and Yazoo River, April 30, and May 1, 1863, in the same year, on an expedition up the Yazoo River, he destroyed the Confederate navy yard. He took an active part in the slege and capture of Vicksburg, From July, 1865, to September, 1861, he commanded the third division. Mississippi Squadron.

1861, he commanded the third division, Mississippi Squadron. He was promoted to commander July 25, 1896, and was assigned to navigation duty at the navy yard at this city, where he remained for one year. Later he was flag captain and chief of staff of the South Atlantic Squadron, and was afterward again assigned to duty at the Washing Navy Yard. He was commissioned as captain in 1878, and for three years thereafter was in charge of the Torpedo Station.

Plan Next Convention.

For the purpose of considering the question of extending an invitation to the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, to hold the next meeting of the National Society in May, 1902 in this city, Noble D. Larner, the President of the District of Columbia society, had called a special meeting for last night in the Masonic Temple. The meeting was not as well attended as desired, however, which was excused by the presiding officer on account of the disquietting rumors about President McKinley's condition.

Mr. Larner stated the object of the call and invited the members to consider the advantages to be derived from this meeting and stated that the expenses for entertaining the delegates and giving a ban-tertaining the delegates and giving a ban-tertain records in the skirmish run fire qualification was a certain record in the skirmish run fire. I had read how Mrs. Kate Lynch, of 23 Elils St., San Francisco, Cal. had cured her husband by using a remedy secrety in his coffee and food and I wrote to Dr. Haines for a trial. When it came I put some in father's coffee and food and watched him closely but he couldn't tell the difference, so I kept it up.

"One morning father got up and said" two reasons for it—one for the protection of the car and the other for the protection of the car and the other for the protection of the parsengers. When the lights are on and the car is at a standstill the trolley pole becomes a lightning rod.

When a car is in motion the electric current, which leaves the power house and is carried along on the trolley wire, passes through a wire in the trolley pole, into the motors of the car, setting them in motion, and then down through the wheels into the rails, by which the current returns to the power house. Thus the trolley wire, the ear and the rails form a complete circuit. When the car is at a standstill the connection between the trolley and the motor is cut off, breaking the circuit. However, turning on the lights has the same effect as putting the car in motion, that is, it completes the car in motion; that is, it can be a prominent social feature last wear.
